1.0 Introduction and general overview of the competition

The European Union, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Denmark (Danida), the African Development Bank (AfDB) and Kenya Climate Innovation Center (KCIC) launched the AgriBiz Programme on March 6th 2020 meant to stimulate the growth of women and youth-owned enterprises in the agribusiness sector. While the rollout of this programme has been slowed down by the spread of COVID-19, there is hope and opportunity. The programme is projected to cost Kshs 5.1 billion and will support 2,400 women and youth-led agribusinesses to create over 17,000 job opportunities along agricultural value chains.

It is envisioned that this programme will unlock the potential agribusiness and value chain actors while contributing to increased smallholder production and household incomes. Improved agricultural production will have a positive ripple effect on Food Security, one of the pillars of the Big Four Action Plan being implemented by the Government of Kenya.

The AgriBiz programme is launching the Vijana na AgriBiz Competition that is being executed by KCIC. The calls for applications for this competition will be open from 2nd December, 2020 to 23rd December, 2020.
