Agri-biz: Decent jobs for Youth and Women in Agricultural Value Chains in Kenya

Agribiz Call for Application Program Guidelines for Counties

Deadline for submission of Application is 30th November 2022.

Introduction

The European Union, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Denmark (Danida), the African Development Bank (AfDB) and Kenya Climate Innovation Center (KCIC) launched the AgriBiz Programme on March 6th, 2020, meant to stimulate the growth of women and youth-owned enterprises in the agribusiness sector. While the rollout of this programme has been slowed down by the spread of COVID-19, there is hope and opportunity.

The programme is projected to cost Kshs 5.1 billion and will support 2,400 women and youth-led agribusinesses to create over 17,000 job opportunities along agricultural value chains.

It is envisioned that this programme will unlock the potential agribusiness and value chain actors while contributing to increased smallholder production and household incomes. Improved agricultural production will have a positive ripple effect on Food Security, one of the pillars of the Big Four Action Plan being implemented by the Government of Kenya.

The Kenya Climate Innovation Center, which is one of the implementing partners, is placing a call for applications to enrol Agribusiness entrepreneurs into the programme. The AgriBiz programme will address key challenges that hinder youth and women from tapping into the immense potential in the agricultural sector. The program will equally support the full spectrum of the value chain from agricultural inputs and producers to suppliers for end consumers in conventional agriculture, fisheries and livestock.

The program will be implemented jointly with eight selected county governments but will be open to citizens from all forty-seven (47) counties. Bungoma, Meru, Kiambu, Machakos, Kisii, Uasin Gishu, Kilifi and Isiolo County Governments have all signed Memorandums of Understanding with KCIC for roll out of the Agribiz program and establishment of the Business Incubation Hubs at the county level. Prior to opening the call, county sensitization and awareness forums will be conducted in the 8 counties.

The applications can be submitted either online through the KCIC AgriBiz website or submission of physical forms that can be collected and dropped at the respective Business Incubation Hubs (BIHs) at the Agriculture Training Centres (ATCs).

Interested applicants from the below counties are welcome to apply to these respective hubs;

The calls for applications will run from 1st November 2022 to 30th November 2022. Thereafter, evaluation of the applications will be done and responses to the applicants will be communicated by KCIC by February 2023. KCIC will offer successful applicants a letter of agreement for review and thereafter signing. The call for applications aims to onboard a maximum of sixty (60) women and youth led businesses per Business Incubation Hub.

Post on-boarding to the program, a needs assessment exercise will be conducted to ascertain the specific needs of the successful applicants. Based on these needs, the hubs will provide training, business advisory and financing to enable them gain the requisite skills needed to scale their agribusinesses. They will then be able to benefit from agribusiness entrepreneurship opportunities available within their localities.
